

Melanie:

My opinion of young people sort of hanging around the streets it could be a bit threatening. I've felt threatened sometimes, maybe if it's late at night and you see a big gang of children sort of, you know, standing on the street corner and smoking and swearing loudly and they're not talking about anything in particular. What they're gonna do at school or what they're gonna do to somebody or something like that, you know. But I probably catch the tail end of what they're trying to talk about really but um, I'm sure they're fine really. [LAUGHS]
