

TOM

Sex has become not the most important part of our relationship but just communication and spending time together.

CHARLOTTE

I'd agree with that. I think young people with disabilities they feel like it's something that's hidden from them or taken away from them. It becomes this like forbidden fruit that like you really want to access. So when it came to actually suddenly being allowed it, it was like you said, you expect kind of fireworks but actually it's not the bit of our relationship that we enjoy the most. We really enjoy passionate kisses and we enjoy-

TOM

Having a bath.

CHARLOTTE

-having a bath. That's our new thing. We've just bought an inflatable bathtub which we highly recommend.

TOM

We do use vibrators as well, because often trying to stimulate is, it's a lot of effort and a lot of work. So having vibrators just takes a bit of the pressure off. If we can't have full on sex, we do just playing around a little bit. So it can basically just be hand jobs. Sometimes you'll put a sexy outfit on. Sometimes I'll borrow your outfit just to be a bit weird and a bit funny. We just like fooling around together and.

CHARLOTTE

I think exploring together. Just doing new stuff and some of it's not worked. I think we have a really healthy sex life. I don't know if you'd agree?

TOM

Totally, yes. I'm happy.

CHARLOTTE

Good.
